Support Redux: Navigating the New Tax Laws and the Emotional Challenges They Create for Spouses (and Teams)

Presented by Sanford Cassel, PhD.; Frank W. Morrison, JD; Gigi Robson, CPA, CDFAs; and Paul R. Smollar, JD

Don't Freak Out!

The emotional, financial and legal challenges of the Collaborative spousal support model in light of the new tax laws.

(This workshop will offer nuts and bolts information about the changes in the tax laws that impact support. We will explore how conversations among team members, and with clients, could be affected, and ways to navigate the emotional challenges for both payees and payors. Preparing for the new law, and considering the impact on our clients and our teams, will increase our effectiveness in reaching successful outcomes in January 2019 and beyond.)

Uniform Collaborative Law Act (UCLA): What's In It For Me?

Why is the UCLA important to Collaborative lawyers, mental health professionals and financial specialists?

Bring your questions for a lively interactive discussion on the need for the UCLA, the efforts underway and your role in supporting passage of the UCLA in Virginia led by an outstanding panel of presenters:

David Toscano, J.D., House of Delegates Democratic Leader in the Virginia General Assembly;

Robert J. Merlin, P.A., Chair of the IACP UCLA Committee, instrumental in the passage of the UCLA in Florida;

Teresa Cole., J.D., Past Chair of the VaCP; and Cathleen A. Rea, Ph.D., Member Group Representative for the CDST and CDSVP practice groups.

Virginia Case Law & Legislative Update:

Christopher Macturk, J.D., of Evolution Divorce & Family Law, PLLC, shares the latest case decisions & Virginia legislation that every collaborative professional needs to know.
